

CRISIS WITH EUROPE CAUSES TANGLE IN PRESIDENTIAL RACE

International Situation Makes Republican Nomination Most Uncertain.

RENOMINATION FOR WILSON

Speculation Rife as to How Issues of Parties Will Be Altered in 1916.

By JOHN SNURE.

The perplexing and troubled international situation is responsible for many things and one of them is the uncertain state of political affairs in the United States.

A year from now, the parties will be making their nominees and writing their platforms for the 1916 campaign. Ordinarily, it would be possible, with the campaign as near at hand as that, to map out with some clearness the lines of the contest between the leading parties and to narrow down to a small group of men the possible nominees.

But at present there is extreme uncertainty, both as to nominees and issues. It is, of course, true that there is practically no uncertainty about the Democratic nominee.

President Wilson will be renominated as far as can be judged.
The defect of Bryan has not apparently weakened the President. Many of Bryan's old friends have been quick to come out in support of the President and to criticize the course of the former Secretary of State.

To Dictate Platform.
It looks now as if Mr. Wilson will not only be the nominee but as if the platform will be dictated by him rather than by the former premier, though the indications are the Wilson leaders are going to go out of their way to keep the Bryan administration in mind in order that there may be no such split in the party as occurred in the Republican ranks in 1912.

The Democratic plan of campaign in a general way will be to proceed on the theory Wilson is stronger than his party and to lay claim to a long list of legislative and administrative achievements since March 4, 1913.

But a great deal will depend on how the international sky looks next summer and fall. It is utterly impossible to tell, in the first place, whether the United States will be dragged into the European war or, in the second place, whether it will be involved in war with Mexico. Should the country be at war, the prevailing belief here is that Wilson will be re-elected on the theory that the country will lose sight of domestic issues and make the peace now it ought not to change Presidents while there is war.

Republicans Uncertain.
This uncertainty about the international situation makes for uncertainty in the Republican field. The Republican party has no Presidential possibility whose chances are so good that he can be considered anywhere near in sight of the nomination. Politicians have come to the conclusion that when the Republican convention meets, there will be about a dozen candidates, each with a small body of delegates. It will be a case of going to the convention and fighting the thing out.

In the list of aspirants, expected to have delegates are Burton, Borah, Cummings, Weeks, and Fairbank, Mann or Sherman, and perhaps both, and several others.

Root may have some delegates and the friends of Brumbaugh, of Pennsylvania, are anxious to get him into the running.

Twenty of Roosevelt's friends are active. William Alden Smith, of Michigan hopes to get the delegation of his state and no doubt La Follette will seek to have a group of delegates at the convention.

No Easy Job.
It will be no easy job to pick a nominee at the convention and it is still more out of the question to pick out of the men named, and others whose names have been mentioned in one way and another for the nomination, a man whose chances are so good as to make him look like the best bet.

No doubt, something will depend, as to the convention's action, on the international questions which loom up.
Should the country be at war, many of Mr. Roosevelt's admirers would insist that he ought to be called back to the White House.

When it comes to the issues which the Republicans will seek to make the most of, these are not hard to figure out, provided domestic questions resume their normal importance, and the country is in a condition of assured peace. But political leaders realize fully it is idle to calculate on the international conditions twelve months ahead.

CARDINAL EXPLORES VIEWS ON SUFFRAGE

In Letter to James R. Nugent He Says Woman Would Be Lured From Home by Vote.

BALTIMORE, June 28.—Cardinal Gibbons, in the hope of settling once and for all any further question of his attitude respecting woman suffrage, has addressed an open letter to James R. Nugent, former city councilman of Newark and a Democratic boss in New Jersey.

In the campaign now being waged in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, where the question of woman suffrage will be voted upon this fall, many contrary and divergent statements have appeared, all supposedly reflecting the attitude of Cardinal Gibbons.

It has not been an unusual sight to see the prelate's name used in one city as a "coponent" of the "pro-women" and in another city as opposed to equal suffrage, and many newspapers have quoted him erroneously in regard to his attitude.

The cardinal's letter to Mr. Nugent is as follows:
"My dear Mr. Nugent: I still hold the same views on woman suffrage as I often expressed, that the ballot would drag woman from her domestic duties into the arena of politics and rob her of her charm, goodness and true influence.

"She is, indeed, a princess, but her God-given rule should be in domestic and gentler fields and ways.

"We all believe that she has been so successful in her work there that we fear any change by the carrier of her government into the political field."

Supplementing his letter to Mr. Nugent, the cardinal further writes:
"So powerful is the influence which a sensible matron exerts over her husband and sons that they will rarely fail to follow her counsel, which comes from an inspired instinct rather than from labored reasoning. When the son of Thermopylae asked a favor of his father, who was a Grecian general, Thermopylae replied:

"My son, I cannot grant you that favor, you must have recourse to your mother. For, I rule Athens; Athens rules Greece; Greece rules the world, but your mother rules me."

"Women are queen indeed, but her empire is the domestic kingdom. The greatest political triumphs she would achieve in public life fade into insignificance compared with the serene glow which radiates from the domestic shrine, and which she illumines and warms by her maternal influence.

"The domestic life is the real place of the lofty pedestal where nature and Christianity have placed her, and will be the pedestal where she will continue to stand through Saturday night.

WHITMAN HAS SET NO DAY FOR BECKER PLEA

Condemned Man's Counsel to Go to Albany Tomorrow if He Has No Word Today.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The failure of Governor Whitman to communicate to Martin T. Manton a date for hearing the appeal in behalf of Charles Becker has greatly worried the condemned man and his counsel. Becker has two weeks and four days in which to make his last appeal, and the governor today sets a date for the hearing, Mr. Manton will go to Albany tomorrow and ask for another interview.

Becker is greatly concerned because Charles B. Felt, Jr., his former press agent, who turned against him at the second trial, is standing pat and has not given any intimation of recanting his testimony.

Becker has freely expressed his anguish of mind, and has repeatedly said that he regards him as his most dangerous enemy.

Any hope that Becker had received from reports that Jack Rose or Morris Lubian might come to his aid at the last minute dwindled when he was told that District Attorney Perkins would under no circumstances grant immunity to any one recanting sworn testimony given at either of the Becker trials.

The one possibility on which Becker and his attorneys base their hope is that Governor Whitman might be away-ward by strong statement today to show that there is an element of doubt as to the guilt of Becker. While such representation has already been made without success to the court of appeals, it will be repeated with additional force to the governor.

Mrs. Becker was in the death house with her husband for more than five hours yesterday.

still a shortage for a merry time to the automobiles needed to transport the youngsters from the city to the camp.
Plans are also being made to run daily excursions to the summer camps so that those who are interested can see what is being done for the children of Washington's poor.

WORLD GOVERNMENT URGED AS WAR CURE

Washington Peace Committee Mass Meeting Favors an International Parliament.

The Washington Peace Committee has gone on record as favoring an international government to do away with war.
They also advocate the establishment of an international parliament and an international court. These institutions are endorsed in the resolutions adopted by the mass meeting which was held yesterday under the auspices of the Committee at First Congregational Church.

The chairman of the Washington Peace Committee, Henry D. Gordon, presided. Among the speakers were Fulton R. Gordon, Matthew E. O'Brien, Mrs. Betsy Lockwood, Miss Mary Carline Fämer, Hymen Levine, and Julian Pierce.

The second public meeting of the Peace Committee was set for next Thursday in the assembly room of the Public Library, when George H. Shih-ley will talk on the evolution toward the world state.

The keynote of the resolutions adopted is that no nation should engage in war until the citizen, irrespective of sex, have no declared by a majority vote.

An especial appeal was made by the committee for the continuance of relief for the nations of Europe, "realizing that each one of us is personally responsible for the relief of suffering to the extent that he or she has been blessed with ability or wealth."

Denies War Is Evidence Of Christianity's Failure

That it is wrong to declare the war in Europe is an evidence of the failure of Christianity among the nations engaged in combat is the statement of the Rev.
John MacMurray, of the Union M. E.
Church. Dr. MacMurray last night delivered a sermon in which he contended that Europe has never tried and known the true Christian civilization, and that Asia knows less. He said:

"The bloody wars of the centuries to propagate and preserve the so-called Christian faith have been a travesty on the message and methods of Jesus, the Prince of Peace.

"The present war, apparently rapidly involving the whole world, is only a Darwinian revelation to type. The chief actors are only going back to the habits of their remote ancestors in the jungles.
Christianity has little to do with the war in Europe, except through its Red Cross and other humanitarian work."
